A custom-built keyboard constructed from white LEGO bricks. The keyboard features a standard QWERTY layout with white circular keycaps. Two orange candle-like components are mounted on the left side of the keyboard, connected to a grey plastic component. A white cable is connected to the bottom of the keyboard. The entire assembly is set against a dark grey background.

Disregard this step if you have the non firing version without candle parts.

Disregard this step if you have the non firing version without candle parts.

Disregard this step if you have the non firing version without candle parts.

